Occupational Therapy In Australia Professional And Practice Issues:

Occupational Therapy in Australia Ted Brown, Helen M. Bourke-Taylor, Stephen Isbel, Reinie Cordier, Louise Gustafsson, 2021-04-18 This ground breaking text provides a comprehensive guide to the occupational therapy profession in Australia from the profession's role in the health care system to the broad scope and nature of its practice. The book is organised into three sections: the Australian context, professional issues, and practice issues. Contributions from 80 Australian occupational therapists working in education, research, policy, and practice bring together the most relevant and up to date information in this essential book. The authors begin the Australian environment section with an overview of the Australian health care system, a history of occupational therapy in Australia, and the role of Australian occupational therapy professional associations and regulatory bodies. The values and philosophy of occupational therapy, ethical and legal aspects of practice, and the role of occupational therapy in population health and health promotion are considered next. The professional issues covered in the book include using effective communication skills, client centred practice principles, and a strength based approach when working with individuals, families, groups, communities, organisations, and populations. Additional topics including occupational science, the education of occupational therapists, research in occupational therapy, evidence based practice, clinical reasoning, and occupational therapy models of practice are also covered in the middle section of the book. Occupational Therapy in Australia: Practice and Process Issues is established as the essential practice reference for students, practitioners, and educators in Australia. This second edition has been revised and updated throughout and includes new chapters on communication skills, environmental aspects of occupational therapy practice, and decolonising occupational therapy through a strength based approach to practice.

Occupational Therapy in Australia Ted Brown, 2020-07-16 This ground breaking text provides a comprehensive guide to occupational therapy in Australia from its role in the healthcare system to the scope and nature of its practice. The authors begin with an overview of the history of occupational therapy in Australia, the ethical and legal aspects of its practice, and its role in population health and health promotion. The values and philosophy of occupational therapy are considered next, together with the roles and responsibilities of practitioners and specific practice features including client centred practice, evidence based practice, research in occupational therapy, and clinical reasoning. Key issues including occupational analysis, the development of occupations across the lifespan, occupational therapy assessment, Indigenous issues, practice in rural and remote areas, and advocacy, leadership, and entrepreneurship are also examined in detail. The first text specifically written for Australian entry to practice students by Australian authors, this book is destined to become an essential reference for both students and professionals in the field. Truly a valuable resource for all Australian occupational therapy students and practitioners. Professor Jenny Ziviani, Children's Allied Health Research, The University of Queensland. This is a text that will have many editions and document the evolution of the profession for decades to come. Professor Carolyn M Baum, School of Medicine, Washington University in St Louis.

Occupation Analysis in Practice Lynette Mackenzie, Glyn O'Toole, 2011-03-23 Occupation Analysis in Practice is the essential book for all future and current occupational therapists. It offers a practical approach to the analysis of occupations in real world practice. The book frames occupation as the key component for analysis and builds upon previous work limited to analysis at the activity level. It examines the interests, goals, abilities and contexts of individuals, groups, institutions and communities along with the demands of the occupation. It presents examples of occupation analysis in different practice contexts including working with children, health promotion, indigenous health, medico-legal practice, mental health and occupational rehabilitation. The book has four sections. Section 1 introduces theoretical perspectives of the concept of occupation analysis and how such analysis relates to particular models of Occupational Therapy practice and the generic World Health Organisation International Classification of Functioning, Disability and Health. Section 2 discusses analysis of particular components of occupation that support practice. These include culture, spirituality, home and community environments as well as self care and leisure. Section 3 applies analysis of occupations to particular specialties encountered in practice. Section 4 considers the application of Occupation Analysis within professional reasoning and goal setting. FEATURES: International team of contributors. Examples of occupation analysis proforma. Application to a wide range of practice areas. Glossary of key terms. Includes the International Classification of Functioning, Disability and Health.

Occupation Centred Practice with Children Sylvia Rodger, 2013-05-20. This book draws on contemporary occupational therapy theory and research to provide occupational therapy students and clinicians with a practical resource on implementing occupation centred practice with children. Each chapter has specific objectives and uses case studies to demonstrate the clinical realities and applications of each of the topics addressed. Best practice guidelines are provided along with a summary of recommendations drawn from the relevant theories, occupational therapy philosophy and existing research. The book aims specifically to be practice based.

Politics of Occupation-Centred Practice Nick Pollard, Dikaïos Sakellariou, 2012-06-11. Politics of Occupation Centred Practice addresses the cultural aspects of occupational identity and draws out the implications for practice moving beyond the clinical environment to include the occupational therapist's work in the wider community. It explores the development of individual occupational narratives, community traditions and their roots in everyday experiences, offering a range of examples from distinctive populations to demonstrate approaches to forming sustainable occupational engagements. Chapters span such key areas as Experiences of Disaster, Social Inclusion, Disability and Participation and Sexuality, Disability, Cultures and Occupation. This cutting edge text, coordinated by two distinguished researchers and educators in the global field of occupational therapy and science, is designed to meet the needs of students studying the conceptual foundations of occupational therapy, occupational science, role emerging practice, occupational justice, community development and community based rehabilitation. The book will also be of interest to academics and practitioners exploring new practice contexts created by the drive to address the diversity and inclusion agenda.

Principles of Assessment and Outcome Measurement for Occupational Therapists and Physiotherapists Alison Laver Fawcett, 2013-03-15 This textbook on assessment and outcome measurement is written for both occupational therapy and physiotherapy students and qualified therapists It begins by defining what is meant by assessment outcome evaluation and measurement and discussing the complexity of therapy assessment and measurement including the challenge of measuring human behaviour and the impact of factors such as task demand and context including the environment Methods of data collection e.g. observation interview standardised testing and sources e.g. self-report proxy for collecting information about clients are then reviewed and the main purposes of assessment e.g. descriptive, evaluative, predictive, discriminative presented. The book then addresses the topics of standardisation, levels of measurement, reliability, validity and clinical utility. There is a chapter describing and applying models for categorizing levels of function to aid assessment and measurement. The concept of clinical reasoning and reflective practice is then explored. Application of principles is supported through detailed case studies and worksheets and the criteria for test critique and guidelines for choosing a particular assessment approach are discussed.

Perspectives on Occupational Therapy Education
Steven Taff, Lenin Grajo, Barbara Hooper, 2024-11-04

Perspectives on Occupational Therapy Education: Past, Present and Future outlines a path forward for occupational therapy educators incorporating the impact of historical context, contemporary issues and trends and international viewpoints on the development of the profession. With this mission in mind, Drs Steven D Taff, Lenin C Grajo and Barbara R Hooper offer helpful tips, practical tools and fresh insights to support current and future educators in developing their teaching philosophies and pedagogies. The book is divided into three main sections: past, present and future, and examines the history of occupational therapy education including the influence of critical philosophies, their relationship to higher education and healthcare and the growth of accreditation standards and professional degree programs. Current trends and challenges in healthcare and higher education including bridging the gap between education and practice, the use of competency exams, expanding educational research and promoting diversity and inclusion among faculty and students. International perspectives on the development and future of occupational therapy education from leading scholars in Africa, Australia, Europe, North America, South America and Southeast Asia including trends in educational technologies, fieldwork education and requirements and inter-professional education. An indispensable resource for educators. Perspectives on Occupational Therapy Education: Past, Present and Future concludes with an imagining of the occupational therapy education landscape in the year 2050, a future in which occupational therapy educators are continuously responding to ongoing changes in health care policies, adapting to a more diverse and globally connected student population and articulating the distinct value of occupational therapy in new and emerging areas of practice. Included with the text are online supplemental materials for faculty use in the classroom.

Occupation for Occupational Therapists
Matthew Molineux, 2004-06-18

This book engages with the renewed focus on the centrality of occupation in occupational therapy. It is informed by a subtle but significant shift in thinking towards a recognition that humans are occupational beings, not merely that occupation is an important part of human life. The emergence of this publication is therefore timely amidst the debate on occupational science. The book is aimed at students of occupational therapy and interested clinicians. It is designed to support them to work in a way that is grounded in and focussed on occupation. The chapters follow a common structure which underpins a stimulating array of content. This extends from an examination of conceptual issues such as creativity and flow to clinical examples of practising in an occupational way. The final section provides a glimpse of new practice frontiers including working with refugees and population health
